ACOG had 130 Fellows presenting at FIGO, 3 panels on global women's health programs that highlighted our work in Uganda, Ethiopia, Malawi, Zambia and Latin America, and hosted a 12 member official delegation.

Jeanne Conry, MD, PhD, FACOG was elected President-Elect of the International Federation of Gynecology and Obstetrics. Her three-year term will begin in 2021. Dr. Conry has the distinguished honor of being the second woman to hold this position since FIGO was founded in 1954.

Bridging Theory and the Real World: Implementing Evidence-Based Care at Scale panel. The speakers were able to articulate real-world experiences from Colombia, Ethiopia and the US on including experts in implementation of clinical programs before and during research design.
We held discussions on the topic of Professional Associations at our OGWH lunch symposium.

Dr. Herbert Peterson, FACOG, underlining the role of professional collaboration during a SMGL panel.

Dr. Owen Montgomery, FACOG, demonstrating surgical skills.